

The second issue of the MBK newsletter presents the work of the institutional-level quality assurance body, the Quality Assurance Committee (QAC).

The QAC was created on 15 April 2007.

It is chaired by Prof. Dr. Mariann Veresné Somosi, Dean of the Faculty of Economics.

Its members are the quality assurance officers of the faculties, the representatives of the supporting departments and a delegate of the Student Self-Government.

The quality management system is organised on three levels, with the faculty quality officers leading a quality assurance team made up of quality assurance staff from their departments.

The work of the Quality Assurance Steering Committee is governed by specific rules of procedure.

On the basis of the University Quality Improvement Plan, the members of the QAC draft the quality improvement plans of the units, contribute to the definition of quality objectives and participate in the operation of the quality assurance and management system.

Each year, the QAC draws up and discusses an annual institution-wide Quality Improvement Plan (Programme), which includes institution-wide quality control, quality assurance actions and quality improvement projects.

The QAC is also responsible for validating and approving the content of the institutional-level questionnaires used by the University.
